SUMMARY OF DUTIES: Responsible for developing, implementing, and evaluating the state's comprehensive marketing and advertising strategy in direct support of recruiting goals. This includes crafting the annual marketing plan and spend plan, in coordination with wing leadership, to align state-level initiatives with national efforts while avoiding duplication. The position requires ongoing collaboration with A1YA and local Public Affairs (PA) offices to ensure consistent branding and messaging for the Air National Guard. The role includes monitoring and maintaining the accuracy of state-specific content on Air Force websites and developing social media content that showcases local Airmen, missions, and achievements. The incumbent oversees community outreach by identifying and planning local events based on return-on-investment (ROI) analysis, coordinating recruiter participation, managing promotional items, processing funding through AFRISS, tracking event leads, and ensuring proper documentation through after-action reports. The role also supports national event coordination by ensuring recruiter presence, submitting National Asset requests, and prioritizing annual needs with A1YA. Attendance at NGB and industry-relevant marketing training is required to stay current on best practices. The incumbent is expected to strategically collaborate with Public Affairs,

ANG Creative, and advertising agencies to leverage existing creative assets and develop localized content that advances recruiting objectives. This position also plays a central role in aligning marketing efforts with the unique needs of the state's wings. The incumbent must maintain exemplary appearance, military bearing, and conduct, with no history of disciplinary action, and will perform additional duties as assigned.
