

Question 1: Why are my Social Security taxes being deferred?

Answer: In order to provide relief during the COVID-19 pandemic, a Presidential Memorandum was issued on August 8, 2020, and guidance followed by Internal Revenue Service on August 28, 2020, to temporarily defer Social Security (Old Age, Survivors, and Disability Insurance (OASDI)), as seen on the Army, Air Force, and Navy Service Members Leave and Earnings Statement as “FICA-SOC SECURITY”) tax withholdings. The Social Security tax is labeled as “Social Security” on the LES for the Marine Corps.

Question 2: What is the Social Security tax?

Answer: Social Security tax is also called the Old Age, Survivors, and Disability Insurance (OASDI) tax and is required by law. The tax funds the Social Security program, which is administered by the Social Security Administration.

Question: Where are the Social Security taxes shown on my LES?

Answer: The Leave and Earnings Statement (LES) for the Air Force, Army and Navy member list the Social Security taxes as “FICA-SOC SECURITY” within the deductions section. For the Marine Corps this deduction is listed as “Social Security” on the LES.

Question 3: How is the Social Security tax calculated?

Answer: The Social Security tax is set by at law at 6.2%. The tax is calculated as 6.2% of a military member’s basic pay. For example, an E5 with 8 years of service has a monthly basic pay rate of $3,306.30. Assuming the E5 was paid for the whole month of duty, the monthly Social Security tax liability would be calculated at 6.2% of $3,306.30, which equals $204.99. Members can use their August or prior Leave and Earnings Statements as a good reference for their typical Social Security tax withholding amount.

Question 4: Can I opt-out of the deferred Social Security tax withholding?

Answer: No. The Office of Management and Budget (OMB) directed all Executive Branch Agencies to implement the tax deferral. As such, no Payroll Providers, Departments/Agencies, or service members will be able to opt-in/opt-out of the deferral.

Question 5: Does this affect any of my other tax withholdings?

Answer: No. Pursuant to the Department of Treasury and the Internal Revenue Service Guidance, this only affects your Social Security tax withholdings, which will be deferred from September 2020 through the end of the calendar year 2020.

Question 6: What is the wage limit amount for determining who will have their Social Security tax withholdings deferred through the end of calendar year 2020?

Answer: If your monthly rate of basic pay is less than $8,666.66, your Social Security taxes will be deferred. If your monthly rate of basic pay is at or above the threshold, your social security tax withholding will not be affected by this temporary deferral.

The monthly rate of $8,666.66 is determined as:

The IRS rate of $4,000 is based on a bi-weekly pay schedule (26 pay periods), while your military pay is calculated on a monthly pay schedule (12 months). To convert the bi-weekly rate of $4,000 to monthly, multiply $4,000 X 26 (pay periods) = $104,000 and divide by 12 (months), which will equal $8,666.66 for the monthly rate.

Question 7: Will I be required to pay back the Social Security taxes that are deferred?

Answer: Yes. Current IRS guidance indicates the payment of the deferred taxes is postponed until January 1, 2021. The deferred Social Security taxes not withheld from wages during 2020 will be collected from your wages between January 1, 2021, and April 30, 2021. Additional information on the collection process will be provided in the future.

Question 8: How much will my payroll provider collect during each pay period starting in January 1, 2021 through April 30, 2021?

Answer: As more information becomes available on the collection of the deferred Social Security taxes, it will be posted here.

Question 9: Can the deferred Social Security tax liability be waived or forgiven?

Answer: Only Congress has the authority to forgive taxes. Deferral of the Social Security tax only postpones when the taxes are due.

Question 10: Can I select my repayment terms, by lump sum or evenly?

Answer: Pursuant to current Department of Treasury and Internal Revenue Service Guidance, total deferred Social Security taxes must be withheld evenly from wages beginning January 1, 2021, and ending on April 30, 2021. As more information becomes available on the collection of the deferred Social Security taxes, it will be posted here.

Question 11: Do I have to pay interest and penalties if not paid after April 2021?

Answer: As more information becomes available on the application of interest and penalties, it will be posted here.

Question 12: I am separating from the service before the end of this year; will I be required to pay it back?

Answer: If you separate or retire in 2020 before the Social Security tax can be collected in 2021, you are still responsible for the Social Security tax repayment. As more information becomes available on the collection of any deferred Social Security taxes, it will be posted here.

Question 13: How will this affect my 2020 and 2021 W-2s?

Answer: As more information and guidance becomes available from the Internal Revenue Service on how the deferral and collections affect your 2020 and 2021 W-2s, it will be posted here.

Question 14: When will the payroll tax deferral begin?

Answer: The deferral of the withholding of the Social Security tax for service members will be effective for mid-month pay September.

Question 15: How will this affect my civilian job paycheck if I am a traditional drilling guardsman?

Answer: Since some employers have the ability to opt-out of the deferral and withholdings plan, we recommend you check with your employer regarding how they will handle the deferral from now through December, and any possible deferred Social Security tax withholdings from January 1, 2021 through April 30th, 2021.
